

A sub-deacon and disciple of Saint Polycarp, the Martyr-Bishop of Smyrna, who sent him into France to preach the Gospel. After forty-two years of successful Apostolate, he was seized by order of the Emperor Septimus Severus, scourged and beheaded.