

Day of love and Friendship

On February 14 we all celebrate something very human and very beautiful, love and friendship

Saint Valentine is the patron of legitimate lovers who defends and blesses love as God created it and not certain things that are called the same but that men have invented, and that have nothing to do with true love.

We must rescue the word and reality. This authentic love and friendship still flourish in our time.

If the heart is healthy, its fruits will be good.
Nobody gives what does not have.
