

Bishop of Vercelli, Italy in 452, he took over a diocese in turmoil and ruins, and spent the rest of his life working to put it back in working order. Built a new cathedral over the ruins of the old one, and the tomb of Saint Teofrasto.